Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a) because they fail to show segments having different widths as set forth in claims 13, 28 and 43. Any structural detail that is essential for a proper understanding of the disclosed invention should be shown in the drawing. MPEP § 608.02(d). Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-10, 13-25, 28-40 and 43-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mott et al. (U.S. Patent 6,152,290).

Mott et al. show in Figures 12A-12C a scraping device 300 wherein the scraping device is mounted in a holder 330 with a fixed connection 350 and one or more adjusting devices 301 at the underside of the scraping device which push different parts of the scraping device against a conveyor belt.

Mott et al also show the scraping face directed towards the belt, one or more adjusting devices, resilient metal springs which have a spring constant, a reinforced scraper face, the blades as being 90 degrees to the belt, elastic material, the scraping device can conform to a curved drum, the scrapers are transverse to the belt, and an embodiment that shows the use of six scraper elements

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 11, 12, 26, 27, 41 and 42 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mott et al. in view of Campanile (U.S. Patent 5,339,947).

Mott et al. does not show more than six scraper elements. However shown by Campanile are more than six scraper elements. In view of this teaching it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art that a number greater than six could be used in order to cover the entire width of the belt.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
